JUDICIAL STATISTICS OF IRELAND FOR THE YEAR 1896.

PART I.—CRIMINAL STATISTICS.

I.—INTRODUCTORY REMARKS.

The tables appended to this Report have been compiled on the principles first adopted as regards Ireland in connection with the Criminal Statistics for the year 1895.

I.—Introductory Remarks.

In the reports for years prior to 1895 all offences were in the first place separated into two great divisions under the heads—"Indictable offences not disposed of summarily" and "All cases disposed of summarily." The former were for convenience designated "more serious" and the latter "less serious" offences.

In the new classification all "indictable offences" of a kindred character are grouped together irrespective of the particular manner in which they came under the cognizance of the authorities, or of the method of disposal of the charges founded upon them. Thus the more serious crimes properly come under the head indictable offences, and the less serious under non-indictable offences, all of which are disposed of summarily.*

Indictable offences are grouped under the following six classes:—

Grouping of offences.

- Class I.—Offences against the person.
- Class II.—Offences against property with violence.
- Class III.—Offences against property without violence.
- Class IV.—Malicious injuries to property.
- Class V.—Forgery and offences against the currency.
- Class VI.—Other offences not included in the above classes.

The crimes comprised in each class will be found set forth at each margin of the tables.

The offences disposed of summarily are classified under two heads, viz.:—

Section A.—Indictable offences disposed of summarily.

Section B.—Other offences disposed of summarily.

It is to be noted that the crimes under Section A are also included in the group of indictable offences above referred to, and that many of the minor cases, that is non-indictable offences, although classed as "offences," are more of a civil than a criminal character, as I have frequently pointed out in previous reports.

* Three Schedules, showing in detail the alterations in classification here referred to, will be found on pages 33–55 of the Criminal Statistics of 1895.

I.—Introductory Remarks.
Quasi criminal cases.

In addition to the cases last referred to, the proceedings in the Courts of Summary Jurisdiction include a large group of quasi criminal cases which are not included in the Tables relating to criminal offences, but are set forth separately in Table 18. The following is a list of the subjects dealt with in the proceedings here referred to:—

Securities.
 Maintenance.
 Goods stolen (Restoration of).
 Employers and Workmen.
 Children.
 Sanitary Law.
 Other Orders

Comparative Tables.

Comparative tables showing in a summary form the state of crime in Ireland, and how it has been dealt with during each of the twenty years, 1877-96, with quinquennial averages under each head and each item of comparison have been compiled, and will be found on pages 28-35.

These comparisons will be found in Tables A, B, C, and D. Tables A, B, and C, refer respectively to crimes dealt with at Assizes and Quarter Sessions, those dealt with by summary jurisdiction, and offences of an indictable character as reported to the police. Table D gives a summary of Tables A, B, and C under more condensed headings for the quinquennial averages and for the year 1896 only. In Table E, parts I. and II., which follows, is shown the geographical distribution of crime during the last quinquennial period under some of the principal heads selected so as to demonstrate the relative states of crime in each county in Ireland. Part I. gives this information regarding the counties arranged in alphabetical order by provinces, and Part II. shows the counties grouped according to their several degrees of criminality under each of the selected heads.

II.—INCREASE AND DECREASE OF CRIME.

II.—Increase and Decrease of Crime.
Standards by which to measure prevalence of crime.

The number of "Indictable Offences" may be taken as the more correct standard by which to measure the prevalence of crime in relation to the population. In making this remark I must not be taken as denying that many of the non-indictable offences which are disposed of summarily, and constitute a considerable number of the cases dealt with by Magistrates in Petty Sessions and Police Courts, are of a decidedly criminal nature. Many of them are of a sufficiently serious character to indicate a general state of disorder and demoralisation in a community amongst which they are numerous; such, for example, as drunkenness, and drunkenness with disorderly conduct, offences which in many cases lead up to crimes of an indictable character.

The main fallacy in taking the number of non-indictable offences of all kinds as an absolute measure of the criminality of a community is that many of the cases partake largely of a civil character; others, again, and these in considerable numbers, consist of cases in which orders are made to maintain certain civil rights, or to secure the discharge of civil duties. Cases distinctly of the latter character are now shown separately under the title of Quasi Criminal Offences (Table 18, p. 95), and in the year 1895 they amounted to about 10,000, and in the year 1896 to about 14,000. Most of such cases were formerly found among "Cases disposed of Summarily," and were included in "Minor Offences" in the reports, under the old system. Another group of the cases "Disposed of Summarily" were proceedings against weekly tenants in towns, which are especially numerous in Dublin. These appeared both in the Civil and the Criminal statistics in certain places. Such cases are now separated from the Criminal statistics proper. I may here point out that these cases tended to increase the number of apparent crimes committed, and must be allowed for when instituting comparisons with the statistics for years anterior to 1895.

II.—Increase and Decrease of Crimes.

In former annual reports it was the custom each year to compare the numbers of the more serious and the less serious offences, and the total of both classes with the corresponding numbers for the year immediately preceding. This is done in the subjoined statement for the years 1895 and 1896, the grouping of the offences being in accordance with the new system. The figures for cases disposed of summarily show the number of persons proceeded against in such cases; those for cases not disposed of summarily have reference to the number of crimes committed.

Total.	187,990	4,109.3	201,635	4,421.5	13,645	312.2

The following summary shows the rate per 10,000 of the estimated population in the middle of each year represented by the number of cases in each class of serious or "Indictable" Offences in Ireland during 1896 and each of the ten years preceding, with the average annual rates for those ten years. It gives a view of the variations which have taken place during the eleven years in the proportional number of more serious offences in Ireland, allowing for the estimated decrease of the population. The rates for nearly all of the classes are in excess of the corresponding rates for the year 1895, but they do not differ very materially from the average rates for the ten years 1886-95.

III.—NATURE OF CRIMES.

As the variations in classification do not alter any of the technical denominations under which crime is classified, the headings under which the different kinds of crime are discussed are the same as in all previous years dealt with.

III.—Nature of Crimes.

During the years 1882-5, and 1887-92, the Prevention of Crimes Act, 1882, and the Criminal Law and Procedure Act, 1887, respectively, were in operation in several Crimes.

parts of Ireland, and under these Acts, in addition to cases which might have been disposed of summarily by Magistrates in Petty Sessions, many cases were dealt with which, in ordinary course, would have been returned for trial at Quarter Sessions or Assizes. The circumstances being exceptional, it was decided to exclude all the cases under these Acts in the years 1883-5 and 1887-92 from the ordinary Tables and Summaries in the Reports for those years, and to give them in special Tables only, and they are also omitted from the retrospective Summary Tables in this volume, but the following statement shows the number of persons proceeded against under these Acts during each of the years here referred to:—

Table C.

The heads under which the various classes of serious crime are treated are as follows:—

CLASS I.—OFFENCES AGAINST THE PERSON.

CLASS II.—OFFENCES AGAINST PROPERTY WITH VIOLENCE.

CLASS III.—OFFENCES AGAINST PROPERTY WITHOUT VIOLENCE.

CLASS IV.—MALICIOUS INJURY TO PROPERTY.

CLASS V.—FORGERY AND OFFENCES AGAINST THE CURRENCY.

CLASS VI.—OTHER OFFENCES NOT INCLUDED IN THE ABOVE CLASSES.

In the six classes here mentioned, the figures are taken from the returns of cases reported to the police.

CLASS I.—OFFENCES AGAINST THE PERSON.

The cases in this class numbered 867 for the year 1896, as compared with 776 for the preceding year, the number for which year was 334 under that for 1894.

The number of cases of murder was 41, as compared with 43 in the previous year, and an average of 45 for the 5 years 1891-5. Of attempts to murder there were 7 as compared with 12 for the previous year, and with an average of 4.6 for the 5 years ending with 1895. Cases of manslaughter were 67 as compared with 74 for the year 1895, and a quinquennial average of 73.8. Thus the cases of homicide and attempted homicide show a decline as compared with recent standards.

CLASS II.—OFFENCES AGAINST PROPERTY WITH VIOLENCE.

The cases of this nature reported to the police amounted to 456, compared with 382 in the preceding year, and an average of 352.4 for the quinquennial period 1891-5. The principal items in this class are burglary, house and shop breaking, amounting to 363 of the total of 456; these, with robbery, amounting to 73 cases, practically make up the class.

CLASS III.—OFFENCES AGAINST PROPERTY WITHOUT VIOLENCE.

The offences of this class returned in 1896 number 6,285, as compared with 5,087 in 1895, and an average of 5,775 for the five years 1891-5. This class practically means cases of larceny.

CLASS IV.—MALICIOUS INJURIES TO PROPERTY.

The number of offences of this character was practically the same in both of the years 1895 and 1896, viz., 689 in the former and 681 in the latter year. In 1894 the number was 653, with this exception the cases were less numerous in 1896 than in any other year since 1878. The 681 offences in 1896 consisted of 279 cases of arson, 161 of killing and maiming cattle, and 241 tabulated under the head of "other malicious injuries."

CLASS V.—FORGERY AND OFFENCES AGAINST THE CURRENCY.

But few offences of this class are committed in Ireland: the number for the year 1896 is 29, and there were only 2 more in the previous year. They showed a general tendency to decrease during the past 20 years.

CLASS VI.—OTHER INDICTABLE OFFENCES.

The indictable offences not included in the foregoing classes numbered 483 in the year 1896; they do not appear to call for any special comment.

OFFENCES DISPOSED OF SUMMARILY.

Under this division there are two classes, denoted (A) and (B) in the tables.

Offences
disposed of summarily.
Tables 16,
17.

The cases under the head A consist of some indictable offences which have been discussed in the above remarks dealing with the police returns of crimes committed. It may here, however, be noted that of the total number of indictable offences (8,801), no less than 3,320, or 37·7 per cent., were disposed of summarily. The bulk of the 3,320 cases so disposed of were larcenies.

Under Section (B) are included all non-indictable offences disposed of summarily, and although these are exclusive of the cases referred to above as quasi-criminal, they nevertheless comprise a large number of cases, more of a civil than a criminal character, such as some of the offences against the Highway Acts, Police Regulations, Sanitary Laws, Hackney Carriage cases, &c.

A very large number of the cases which come under division (B) consist of drunkenness, drunkenness and disorderly conduct, and common assaults. The number of the latter (common assaults) in 1896 was 20,583, or 10 per cent. of all crimes committed. In the case of drunkenness the number is still more remarkable, as it amounts to 90,343, being 44·8 per cent. of all crimes committed, and 46·1 per cent. of all cases disposed of summarily.

QUASI-CRIMINAL OFFENCES.

Quasi-criminal offences.

The offences under this head being more of a civil than a criminal character, scarcely come within the limits of the subject dealt with in the preceding paragraphs. Excluding orders (numbering about 14,000) for the recovery of tenements overheld in towns, the detailed numbers of which are given in the Civil Statistics, applications for orders amounted to about 14,000 in the year 1896. Considerably more than one-third (5,135) of these cases were cases for Orders to enter into security to keep the peace or find bail. About 15 per cent. of the whole, or 2,160, related to children, comprising 946 school attendance orders, 1,196 Industrial school orders, and 18 custody orders under the 1894 Act for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children. The remaining cases do not require special notice.

The general distribution of crime throughout the County, City, and Town Districts into which Ireland is divided for criminal jurisdiction and police purposes, is shown in the following statement for the years 1895 and 1896, with the increase or decrease in each district in the latter year.

STATEMENT showing, for the Years 1895 and 1896, the DISTRIBUTION throughout IRELAND of CRIMINAL OFFENCES of all kinds, distinguishing Indictable from Non-Indictable Offences, with the RATE per 100,000 of the POPULATION represented by each of these two Classes of Offences in 1896, and the INCREASE or DECREASE in NUMBER in that Year, as compared with 1895.

IV—
Geographical Distribution of Crimes in 1895 and 1896.

Offences in each county. Tables 16 and 24.

Taking indictable offences as the more important indication of the prevalence of crime it is shown that there was an increase of these in 22 districts and a decrease in 19 districts, and that in two districts (Cork City and Monaghan County) the numbers were the same in both years. The districts of increase were Drogheda Town, the Dublin Metropolitan Police District, Waterford City, Belfast City, Carrickfergus Town, Galway Town, and the following, King's County, Meath, Queen's, Westmeath, Wicklow, Cork W.R., Tipperary N.R., Armagh, Cavan, Donegal, Down, Fermanagh, Londonderry, Tyrone, Roscommon, and Sligo.

With respect to non-indictable offences there was an increase in 31 districts, and a decrease in 12.

Taking all forms of offences collectively, the numbers also show an increase in 31 districts, and a decrease in 12.

In the following lists the various districts are arranged from the lowest to the highest ratios per 100,000 inhabitants for each group, and for total of all kinds of crime in the year 1896.

IV.—
Geographical Distribution of Crime.

It will be observed that the large towns occupy unfavourable positions in all these lists. In connection with this point it is important to consider more in detail the relative proportion of crime in large town districts as compared with the total of crime in Ireland, and in comparison with districts where the populations are either altogether rural or where residents in towns form a comparatively small portion of the community. The following statement illustrates this point by showing the proportion of crime under certain headings in each of the towns having, in 1891, a population of twenty thousand and upwards; in all other districts; and in the total of Ireland.

IV.—
Geographical Distribution of Crime.

Offences in Large Town
Districts, compared with those in other districts.

It will be observed that of the 201,685 cases of crime of all kinds in Ireland in 1896 there were 57,571 or 28·6 per cent. among the town populations dealt with in the foregoing statement, although the aggregate population of these towns (774,000) constituted only 16·5 per cent. of the population of Ireland in the year 1891. The crime rate per 100,000 amounted to 7,438·1 in the town populations against 3,664·8 in the remainder of the population. In fact the town crime rate is almost double the country rate for non-indictable and more than six times the country rate for indictable offences. As already pointed out when dealing with the nature of crimes a very large proportion is made up of assaults and drunkenness. It is a salient point in the above statement that cases of drunkenness constitute 45 per cent. of the total number of offences in Ireland; in the large towns the proportion was 35 per cent. and in other districts 49 per cent. While the proportion of drunkenness to the total number of cases of crime in the large towns is less than in the other districts the ratio of drunkenness to the population is greater, being at the rate of 2,600 per 100,000 in the former as compared with 1,786 in the latter.

Distribution
crimes in counties.
*Comparative Table
E, Parts I and II.*

In Comparative Table E, Part II., will be found the geographical distribution by counties (including the towns situated therein) of the principal crimes or groups of crimes during the five years 1892-96. In this Table the counties are arranged in alphabetical order by province. In Table E, Part I., the counties are arranged in order for each class of crime from that where there was least to that where there was the greatest prevalence of crime, and in some columns the counties are grouped under certain degrees of criminality. From the first column in this Part, which shows for the five years 1892-6 the average annual number of indictable offences per 100,000 population, it will be observed that the rates range from 55·78 per 100,000 in Donegal to 651·98 in Dublin. In 13 counties and ridings the rate was under 100; in 19 it ranged between 100 and 300; and in 3—Kildare (220·21), Antrim (304·05), and, as above stated, Dublin—it exceeded 300. The rates for "Crimes against Property," "Crimes of Violence," and "Crimes against Morals" and "Suicides" are given in columns 2, 3, 4, and 6 respectively.

drunkenness, compared with
Table E.

Column 5 shows the average rates represented by cases of drunkenness, which range from 1,118 per 100,000 of the population in the County of Roscommon to 3,028 (or nearly treble the Roscommon rate) in Waterford.

V.—PROCEDURE FOR THE PUNISHMENT OF CRIME.

V.—Procedure for the Punishment of Crime.

The Police, as is well known, act as public prosecutors in the great majority of cases in Ireland, and in most of the more serious offences, the preliminary proceedings are instituted by them. The offices of Crown and Sessional Crown Solicitor are amalgamated, and the duties of the united offices are performed by a Crown Solicitor in the Counties of Carlow, Cavan, Cork City, Down, Dublin, Galway, Kildare, Limerick County and City, Longford, Mayo, Monaghan, Queen's, Roscommon, Waterford, Westmeath, Wexford, and Wicklow. Elsewhere where no amalgamation of offices has yet taken place, Crown business at Assizes or Quarter Sessions is discharged by Crown or Sessional Crown Solicitors, respectively. Coroners' Courts deal in the first instance with many cases where questions of homicide are concerned, and verdicts of Coroners' Juries are given, implicating or exonerating certain persons. There are not, however, any returns of the proceedings of Coroners' Courts furnished for the purposes of the Statistical Tables appended to this Report.

Districts
Proclaimed.
Tables 10,
11, and 12.

This is a convenient place to refer to the special feature in the administration of the criminal law in Ireland, by which certain districts are proclaimed under special

Acts of Parliament. The particulars of the proclaimed districts and the Acts of Parliament under which the proclamations were issued, will be found in Tables 10, 11 and 12, p. 74. The districts were the same in 1896 as in the previous year.

The particulars of the proceedings in criminal cases at Assizes and Quarter Sessions will be found in Tables 1 to 7.

The subjoined statement gives in a summary manner, for 1896, and each of the ten years preceding, the number of persons tried by jury at Assizes, at the Dublin Commission Court and at Quarter Sessions and how their cases were disposed of:—

Year.	Tried.	Convicted or Detained in Prison.	Acquitted.	Proportion per cent. of those Tried who were Convicted or Detained in Prison.	Acquitted.

1896,	1,746	1,233	513	70.6	29.4

In Comparative Table A will be found a twenty years' retrospect of the number of persons for trial at Assizes and Quarter Sessions with the nature of offences in each year from 1877 to 1896, also quinquennial averages.

In Table 8 will be found the particulars of the cost of criminal proceedings at Assizes and Quarter Sessions for the year ended the 31st March, 1896, the total amount for Assizes being £34,126, and for Quarter Sessions, £7,509, as compared with £38,188, and £8,552 respectively, for the year ended 31st March, 1895.

COURT FOR CROWN CASES RESERVED.

There were only two cases dealt with in the Court for Crown Cases Reserved; one from the Munster Winter Assize, the other from the County Down Spring Assizes; in both cases the conviction and sentence were affirmed. For offences see Table 9. In 1895 the number of cases was the same.

COURTS OF SUMMARY JURISDICTION.

The particulars of criminal proceedings in Courts of Summary Jurisdiction in 1896 will be found in Tables 15 to 17. In the following statement a summary is given of the disposal of these cases for 1896 and each of the preceding ten years.

In Comparative Table B will be found a retrospect for the twenty years 1877-96 of the number of persons tried summarily* and the nature of offences for each year during that period, with quinquennial averages. Special attention is directed to the notes prefixed to Tables 15 and 16, explanatory of these Tables and consequently of Comparative Table B. In connection with the subject of Courts of Summary Jurisdiction, attention may be again called to the Table (18) of Quasi Criminal cases dealt with already at page 14.

The number and character of the appeals to Quarter Sessions from convictions by Magistrates will be found in Table 19. These appeals numbered 425 in 1896, and were disposed of as follows:—Affirmed, 178; reversed, 107; varied, 58; otherwise disposed of, 82.

CHARACTER OF PERSONS PROSECUTED.

Character of persons prosecuted.
Table 25.

In Table 25 will be found some particulars as to the previous character of persons prosecuted during the year. From this Table it appears that the vast majority of the persons proceeded against come under the head of "previous character good or unknown." Of 2,796 persons not dealt with by summary jurisdiction 2,035, and of 196,215 tried summarily, 183,379, come under this denomination. These numbers are so large, and the description so indefinite, that it is useless to enter into an analysis of the remaining figures which represent but a small portion of the persons prosecuted.

SUSPECTED PERSONS AT LARGE AND HOUSES OF BAD CHARACTER.

Suspected persons at large and houses of bad character.
Tables 26 and 27.

In Table 26 will be found the numbers of suspected persons at large on the first Tuesday in April, 1896. The total number is 1,413, comprising 479 thieves, 43 receivers, and 75 persons otherwise habitually engaged in crime, with 816 other suspected persons. Besides these there were 141 persons under the supervision of the police.

There were in all 199 houses of bad character which may be taken to mean the places usually resorted to by the persons above referred to and their confederates.

* Exclusive of Persons proceeded against under Criminal Acts in the years 1883-5 and 1897-92.

It will be observed that there were 38,168 persons admitted to places of confinement during the year 1896, and that of these 25,176, or about two-thirds, were males, and 12,992, or about one-third, females. Among these 38,168 were 2,530 lunatics admitted into asylums, and 1,378 children admitted to industrial schools, so that 3,908, or a little over 10 per cent. of the total admissions to places of detention, were of persons who cannot be considered as criminals. In addition to these exceptions there are some young people and lunatics included among the admissions to prisons and bridewells who were only temporarily detained prior to admission to schools or lunatic asylums.

Compared with the respective numbers for the preceding year, the admissions to Reformatories, Lunatic Asylums, and Industrial Schools show no appreciable variation, but the receptions of prisoners rose from 31,530 to 34,141, an increase of 8·3 per cent.

Prisons.

The following statement shows by age periods the number of convicted prisoners (other than those committed for naval and military offences), committed to the larger and minor local prisons during the year 1896 (see Table 35).

Sixty years and upwards,	1,768	1,244	524	6·0	5·1
Age not ascertained,	7	4	3	—	—

There were only 20 girls under 16 years of age—4 under 12 years, and 16 aged 12 and under 16—among the 10,303 females convicted; the number of boys under 12 years was 12, and that of older boys, aged 12 and under 16, was 131. Thus there were in all only 16 convicted persons under 12 years of age committed to prison during the year 1896. The total number of convicted males committed to these prisons was 18,970, and of females 10,303, or little more than one-half the number of males. The number of prisoners received into each prison will be found in Table 30, and particulars as to the disposal of prisoners in Tables 31A and 31B. Particulars as to the nature of sentences will be found in Table 32, and details regarding the length of these sentences in Table 33.

Habitual criminals, or those who had been previously convicted, constitute a very large proportion of those admitted to prison. Of 29,273 convicted prisoners admitted to the larger and minor local prisons, no less than 20,219 had been previously convicted. Of these, 3,840 had been once previously convicted, 2,355 twice, 1,425 thrice, 1,141 four times, 963 five times, 3,013 six to ten times, 2,824 from eleven to twenty times, and 4,698 above twenty times. It will be observed that a very large proportion are included in the last two periods, the figures showing 7,522 commitments of persons who had previously been convicted upwards of ten times. In Table 36 will be found the birthplaces of those committed to prison.

The state of education of prisoners is shown in the following statement where a comparison is made with the state of education of persons of 12 years and upwards of the general population as ascertained from the Irish Census returns for 1891. For this purpose it is only possible to compare the prisoners with those in the general population, 13 years old and upwards, who can and those who cannot read and write. As there were only 16 prisoners in 1896 under the age of 12 years this insignificant disturbance does not appreciably affect the accuracy of the comparison:—

General Total.	18,920	10,303	29,223	100.0	100.0	100.0	100.0	100.0	100.0

It will be observed from the foregoing tabular statement that while 33.9 per cent. of convicted prisoners committed to prison in 1896 were absolutely illiterate, only 16.8 per cent. of the general population in 1891 were in a similar condition of ignorance, and there is no doubt that the percentage of illiterate among the general population was considerably less in 1896 than in 1891. It is specially noticeable that the disparity is more marked among the female than the male prisoners.

Previous occupations
of prisoners.
Table 38.

The previous occupations of prisoners are dealt with in Table 38, but as the classification of occupations is different from that employed by the Census Commissioners in their report it is impossible to institute comparisons between the occupations of prisoners and those of the general population in a manner similar to that adopted regarding education. It is interesting, however, to note that of the 29,273 prisoners dealt with, 1,106 belonged to the domestic servant class, 13,820, by far the largest proportion, to the labouring classes, 666 to the class of factory workers, 3,454 to the artisan class, 243 to overseers of labour, 235 to the class of shopmen, shopwomen, and clerks, 2,171 to the class of shopkeepers and dealers, 88 to professional employments, 319 to the class of sailors, marines, and soldiers, and no less than 4,451 (or 43 per cent. of the 10,303 female prisoners) are classified as prostitutes. The remainder of the prisoners either had no occupation or their sphere of life was not ascertained.

REFORMATORY SCHOOLS.

With respect to institutions for the prevention of crime, namely, Reformatory and Industrial Schools, the following statement deals with juvenile criminals under Reformatory control in the year 1896, compared with 1895, and the details for 1896 will be found in Tables 41-4.

NUMBER OF CHILDREN ON THE ROLL OF REFORMATORY SCHOOLS IN IRELAND.	End of 1896.			End of 1895.	Increase in 1895.	Decrease in 1896.

In Prison.	3	—	3	1	1	—
Total.	527	68	594	612	—	28

From this table it appears that there was a decrease of 28 in the number of children on the rolls of Reformatory Schools in Ireland at the end of 1896, as compared with the number at the close of the preceding year, which was 13 below that for 31st December, 1894. There were 36 less in the schools under sentence and 7 more on licence. Five of those on the rolls at the close of 1896 had absconded, with sentence unexpired, being one over the number under this heading in 1895.

VI.—
Criminals and others
(in confinement and known
Criminals at large.

The total number on the rolls at the close of the year 1896 was 584 (526 boys and only 58 girls). The number committed during the year was 119, showing a decrease of 3 as compared with the committals for the preceding year, which were 13 under the number for the year 1894. The number of boys committed in 1896 was 110, or 2 less than in the year 1895, and the number of girls 9, or one under the number for 1895, and 6 under that for 1894.

The social condition of the young persons committed in 1896 to Reformatories in Ireland is shown in the following table:—

Social

Both parents alive, not included in foregoing	64	3	58.2	33.3
One parent dead	34	4	30.9	44.5
Total orphans	9	1	8.2	11.1

Only one of the 9 girls, and 3 of the 110 boys come under the head of the illegitimate, the deserted, and those having both parents destitute or criminal. Those having both parents living, and who are not included in the foregoing, formed 58 per cent. of the boys and 33 per cent. of the girls. The orphans (including those having one parent dead) were 39 per cent. of boys and 56 per cent. of girls.

The degree of education (on admission) of children committed to Reformatory Schools is shown in the following summary:—

Degree of education.

Read and write well	11	—	10.0	—
Superior instruction	1	—	0.9	—

The want of education is seen from this summary, which shows that only 12 of the 110 boys and none of the 9 girls admitted could read and write well.

INDUSTRIAL SCHOOLS.

Excluding Lunatic Asylums, the institutions in which the largest number of persons were in custody at the end of the year were Industrial Schools. Particulars regarding them are given in Tables 45-7.

Industrial Schools.
Table 45-7.

The total number of Industrial Schools in 1896 was 73, being 2 over the number in 1895. Of the 73 schools 27 were in Munster, 20 in Leinster, 18 in Connaught, and 13 in Ulster.

Table 45.

The following summary shows the number of children under warrant of detention in Industrial Schools in Ireland at the end of 1896, as compared with similar statistics for the end of 1895:—

CHANGES OF THE ROLLS OF INDUSTRIAL SCHOOLS IN IRELAND.	End of 1896.			End of 1895.	Increase, 1896.	Decrease, 1896.
	Boys.	Girls.	Total.

Retained in school, sentence expired,	11	73	84	80	4	—
Total,	3,774	4,813	8,587	8,613	64	—

It appears from this table that the number of children on the rolls of Industrial Schools in Ireland at the end of 1896 (8,587) was 64 over that for the close of the preceding year, which was 80 under the number at the end of 1894. Of the total number, 7,943 were in the schools undergoing their sentence of detention, 84 were retained in school with their own consent although their sentences had expired, 632 were on licence, and 7 (all boys) had absconded.

Ages on admission to Industrial Schools.
Table 45.

The following figures show the ages of the children placed in these schools in 1896:—

AGE OF CHILDREN.	Boys and Girls.	Boys.	Girls.	Per-centage of Total.
				Boys.	Girls.
Total,	1,373	693	680	100	100
Under 5 years,	71	16	57	5.0	8.3

10 and under 12 years,	321	200	121	28.9	19.1
12 years and upwards,	190	183	7	14.0	1.7

It appears from these figures that 68 per cent. of the girls and 56 per cent. of the boys were brought under careful training in these schools at the early age of under ten years.

In 1895, 728 girls were sent to Industrial Schools, as compared with 602 boys; the respective numbers for 1896 were:—Girls, 686; boys, 692.

CRIMINAL AND DANGEROUS LUNATICS.

Criminal
and Dangerous
Lunatics in confinement.
Tables 48-
52.

The insane persons who come under the cognizance of the Criminal Law are of two classes, viz.:—One consisting of those persons who have actually committed criminal offences, and would, were they sane persons, be liable to punishment for their crimes, and the other, and by far the more numerous class, consisting of persons who have not committed any criminal act, but who, having shown signs of mental derangement, have become a source of anxiety to their friends and neighbours who apprehend some danger at their hands. The former class are, in the first instance, treated as criminal cases, and proceedings instituted with the view of bringing them to justice for the crimes with which they are charged. These persons are sent for trial, and on being found insane are detained as lunatics and sent to the Criminal Lunatic Asylum; to these may be added persons who become insane while awaiting trial or during imprisonment. The class of dangerous lunatics are dealt with in a different way. On being suspected as insane they are charged before two Justices of the Peace (or a Metropolitan Police Magistrate) as being dangerous lunatics, and if the charge be proved to the satisfaction of the Justices an order is signed for their committal to a lunatic asylum; in such cases it is not necessary to prove an actual criminal offence. In no sense can these persons be considered as criminals. In fact this method of procedure is usually adopted as the means of placing under restraint ordinary troublesome lunatics belonging to the industrial classes of the community.

The following summary shows the judgments or orders under which criminal and dangerous lunatics were committed to asylums in Ireland in 1896.

Notes to Tables 1, 3, and 5.

(a.) The titles of offences (Column 1) are much condensed. The fuller titles, and the offences comprised under each head, are given on page 36 of the Criminal Statistics for the year 1895.

(b.) The Tables show the number of persons prosecuted, not the number of offences. Where, therefore, any person is prosecuted at the same Assizes or Sessions for several offences, one offence has to be selected for tabulation; and the rule to be followed is to select that for which the proceedings were carried to the furthest stage—do trial if there were several indictments, to conviction and sentence if prisoner was tried on several charges. If there are several convictions, the offence selected is that for which the heaviest punishment was awarded. If the final result of proceedings on two or more charges is the same, the more serious offence (as measured by the maximum penalty allowed by the law) appears in the Tables.

(c.) Where, in addition to the offence thus selected for detailed tabulation, the same person is prosecuted for other offences of a distinct character, and charged in separate indictments, the number of these additional charges is given in columns 23 to 24 of the Tables, column 23 giving the total number of such charges, column 24 the number resulting in convictions, and column 25 the number for which separate sentences (not concurrent with those in columns 11 to 17) are passed. Only distinct offences charged in separate indictments are included in these columns; additional indictments merely varying the form of the charge, and additional charges appearing as counts in the same indictment, are excluded.

(d.) Where a person is prosecuted for one offence and convicted for another (e.g. committed for murder and convicted of manslaughter), the case appears only under the offence of which he was convicted.

(e.) Columns 2, 3, and 4 ("Numbers for Trial") include only such cases as actually come before the Assizes or Quarter Sessions. Persons who die, escape from prison, abscond while on bail, or are removed to an asylum before trial, are not included.

(f.) Column 13 ("Imprisonment") does not include the sentences of imprisonment which sometimes precede sentences of detention in a Reformatory School, nor does it include sentences of imprisonment in default of payment of fine, or in default of finding sureties.

(g.) Columns 15 and 19 ("Fine") include all cases where payment of a fine is imposed as the sentence or part of the sentence, whether the fine is actually paid or not.

(h.) Columns 17 and 21 ("Recognizances") include cases where recognizances are required, whether with or without sureties, and, if sureties are required, whether they are found or not.

(i.) Columns 18 to 24 are for those cases where more than one punishment is imposed for the same offence. Thus, if a person convicted of larceny is sentenced to be imprisoned and whipped, the imprisonment appears in Column 13, the whipping in column 22.

§ The Officers and Constables of the G Division are employed as "Detachments."

(a) Exclusive of 1 Inspector, 4 Sergeants, and 21 Constables, employed in Government Departments and on private service with Private Baiters.

Notes to Tables 15, 16, 17.

(a.) These Tables include only offences tried summarily. All indictable offences where the Court does not actually assume the power to determine the case summarily are excluded. Further, these Tables include only cases where the proceedings are criminal—that is, lead if successful to a conviction. There are a large number of cases which are quasi-criminal in character, but where the procedure is by complaint, leading, not to a conviction, but to the making of an order. These are provided for in a separate Table—No. 18.

(b.) The Tables show the number of persons prosecuted, not the number of offences. Where therefore any person is prosecuted at the same time for several offences, one offence has to be selected for tabulation, and the rules followed are the same as in Table 1 to 5 (see note (b) page 90).

(c.) The offences included under each of the titles of offences in Column I are stated on page 46 of the Criminal Statistics for the year 1895.

Notes to Table 15.

(d.) Table 15 corresponds to Tables 1, 3, and 5, and (as regards length of sentences) to Tables 2 and 4.

(e.) Column 5, "Committed to Industrial Schools," includes only those committals to Industrial Schools where an offence is charged—i.e., committals under Section 13 of the Industrial Schools (Ireland) Act, 1898. Other committals to Industrial Schools where the proceedings are not criminal appear in Table 18, and also in Tables 45 to 47.

(f.) Columns 7 to 13, "Imprisonment," do not include the preliminary imprisonment in Reformatory School cases, nor terms of imprisonment in default of paying fine or of finding sureties.

(g.) Column 14, "Reformatory School," contains all cases of persons sentenced to Reformatory School detention, whether they are actually admitted to a reformatory or not. Details as to cases actually received in reformatories are given in Table 41.

(h.) Columns 16 and 19, "Fine," include all cases where a fine is imposed whether the fine is paid or not. The number of persons committed to prison in default of paying fines is given in Tables 32 and 33.

(i.) Columns 17, 17a, and 20, "Recognizances," include all cases where the defendant is ordered to find sureties, whether the sureties are found or not. It must be remembered, however, that the Table applies only to convictions, and that it does not include cases where a person is required to find sureties upon complaint. These cases are included in Table 18.

Note to Table 16.

(k.) This Table corresponds to Table 6, and the list of Counties is the same.

POLICE RETURNS.

Notes to Table 20.

(a.) Column 1, "Offences,"—The titles of the offences are the same as in Tables 1 to 5.

(b.) Column 2, "Number of Crimes committed"—This column includes all crimes reported to the police within the year whether committed by the same or different persons, and whether any apprehension takes place within the year or not.

(c.) If there is a committal or conviction within the year, the Table shows the nature of the crime as judicially determined. Failing this, the charge which is served in the summons or warrant on which the prisoner is arrested is taken as determining the crime. If there are no proceedings and no apprehension, the character of the crime is judged by the facts so far as known to the police.

(d.) In columns 3 to 21 the number of persons proceeded against is given, not the number of crimes or charges. A person charged at the same time with several offences appears as one person only. In selecting the offence for tabulation the same principle is followed as in Tables 1 to 5—the charge resulting in conviction or committal for trial has preference to the others; and subject to this the more serious offence is selected. If there are two or more convictions at the same time, that for which the heavier sentence is inflicted is regarded as the more serious. These columns include only cases disposed of within the year. Cases pending at the end of the year are reserved for inclusion in the following year's tables.

(e.) Columns 7, 8, 15, and 16, "Discharged," contain cases where the Magistrate does not assume power to try the case summarily, but discharges the accused under Section 15 of the Petty Sessions (Ireland) Act, 1851, or Section 25 of the Indictable Offences (Ireland) Act, 1845.

(f.) Columns 9 and 17, "Tried Summarily and Discharged," contain cases where, after the Magistrate has decided to deal summarily with the case, the charge is dismissed or withdrawn.

(g.) Columns 10 and 18, "Tried Summarily and Convicted," include cases dealt with under the Probation of First Offenders' Act, 1857.

(h.) Columns 11 and 19, "Committed for Trial and sent to Prison," include all persons committed to prison to await trial, whether they are subsequently released on bail or not.

Notes to Table 21.

(i.) The titles of the offences are the same as in Table 15 (b), and, as in that Table, only criminal proceedings are included.

(j.) Notes (c.) and (d.) above apply to this Table.

(k.) Columns 7 and 11, "Convicted," include cases dealt with under the Probation of First Offenders' Act 1857.

RETURNS FROM THE

TABLE 26.—Numbers of Suspected Persons at Large, and

The enumeration for the purposes of these Tables was made on the first Tuesday in April, 1886.

Persons who have been convicted of crime, but who are respectively believed to be (1) at liberty at the date of the return, are not included in Columns 3, 4, and 5. "Habitually engaged in Crime," apply to the same class of cases as the corresponding columns in the preceding Table. Column 6, "Other Suspected Persons," includes Persons frequently guilty of minor offences, though not coming within columns 3, 4, or 5; in Columns 3 and 4, "Persons of Loose Order Police Supervision," include all persons under actual police supervision, whether included or not in Column 11, "Houses of Reformation of Stolen Goods," and also Persons reasonably suspected of being used for the receipt of stolen goods, whether in Column 11, 12, and 13 include all houses where thieves and other habitual criminals regularly resort for the purpose of making cash sales.

Notes to Tables 30 to 40.

Notes to Table 30.

(a.) This table gives the numbers of each class of prisoners received in each prison during the year. In the case of prisoners committed for trial it is necessary to distinguish those who were and those who were not previously in prison on remand; otherwise in making up the total the same person would, in many cases, count twice—as a remand prisoner and as a prisoner committed for trial. Similarly, convicted prisoners have to be divided into those who were and those who were not in detention before trial. The figures of the cases which thus appear a second or a third time are printed in old face type, columns 3, 5, and 7. The total of criminal prisoners, column 10, is obtained by adding the figures in the other columns 2, 4, 6, 8, and 9.

The table gives only the first receptions of prisoners on remand, committed for trial, &c. When prisoners are transferred from one prison to another they appear only in the return from the prison in which they are first received, not in that from the prison to which they are removed. As convicts, as a rule, undergo some detention in local prisons before transfer to a convict prison, they appear as receptions only in the local prison returns.

(b.) Column 11, "Surety Prisoners," includes only unconvicted persons imprisoned in default of finding sureties to keep the peace or to be of good behaviour.

(c.) Column 12, "Debtors," comprises all persons who are treated as debtors in prison, including bankrupts imprisoned to prevent absconding, &c.

Notes to Table 31.

SECTION (a).

(d.) This table gives, in columns 2 to 9, the numbers of prisoners on remand who are disposed of within the year. It therefore includes those in prison on remand on 1st January, but not those on remand and still undischarged on 31st December. Those who after remand are discharged appear in column 3, those convicted summarily in column 4, those committed for trial in column 5.

(e.) Similar remarks apply to columns 6 to 15. Prisoners waiting trial on 1st January are included, those waiting trial and not disposed of on 31st December are excluded.

SECTION (b).

(f.) This table shows only the final disposal of each convicted prisoner released or removed during the year. Each case appears only under the prison from which the prisoner is finally discharged or removed. If a prisoner has been removed from one prison to another, his case is included in the figures for the last prison only.

Notes to Table 32.

(g.) This table includes all cases received under sentence during the year from 1st January to 31st December, whether in prison before conviction or not.

(h.) All prisoners appear in the return from the prison in which they are first received after sentence, and not in the return for any prison to which they may be subsequently removed.

(i.) Column 5 contains only cases where a licence is forfeited on conviction by a Court of Summary Jurisdiction for an offence under section 5 of the Prevention of Crimes Act, 1871. Other cases of forfeiture and all cases of revocation of licence are included in column 21.

Note to Table 33.

(j.) In this table two sentences passed at the same time and ordered to run consecutively are treated as one sentence equal in length to the two added together. In the case of concurrent sentences the longer only is given.

Note to Table 35.

(k.) Where the actual date of birth is known the age is given for the birthday immediately preceding the date of reception in prison. In other cases the age is given as nearly as possible.
